Our Purpose

The Arden Group exists to enable our customers to push the boundaries of creative and sustainable packaging. The more we do this the stronger our company becomes, and the boundaries can be pushed further.

What is special about Arden is that we are a family. Our business was created by one and remains as one.

We may have now expanded across the globe, but the family still feels as close as ever, achieving more together.

Our Success

The success of Arden is in our hands and to remind us every day what matters, we have established our values to guide our success.

Arden has been built by the strength of our teams, both past and present, and to ensure our long-term success we must continue to invest in the teams of our future.

Like all great companies, we strive to hire the best people to join the Arden Group. People who think the same as we do and who value our core beliefs of Teamwork, Excellence, Respect, and Innovation. Establishing our values is an important step in that process.

Our Values

Our values stem from four core beliefs, which are Teamwork, Excellence, Respect, and Innovation.

Some of these statements capture what the Arden Group stands for today and others are to guide us all to where we strive to be to ensure the long-term success of the organization and that everyone is a part of the Arden family.
